

HUMOR

The Best of Iggy

by Annie Barrows

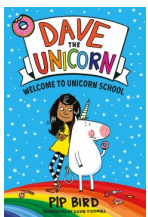

Iggy doesn't mean to be bad but gets in trouble every day. This mischievous fourth grader hilariously instructs readers on the three main ways trouble happens. Ever heard of extenuating circumstances? (series)

Accidental Trouble Magnet

by Zanib Mian

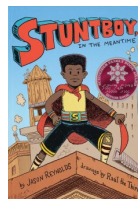

Omar's family has moved, and he starts a brand-new school. Introducing other kids to his Muslim faith and culture can be challenging, but Omar persists with lots of laughs and imagination. (series)

Welcome to Unicorn School

by Pip Bird

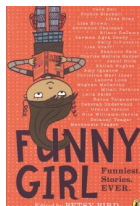

It's Mira's long-awaited first year at Unicorn School! Though her classmates get paired with glittering, smart, strong, magical unicorns, Mira ends up with a grumpy, potbellied unicorn named Dave. (series)

Stuntboy, in the Meantime

by Jason Reynolds

Portico has a lot to worry about (including a bully). With best friend Zola, he copes by creating Stuntboy, a superhero alter ego who secretly protects their neighbors and friends. But can he help his always-arguing parents?

Funny Girl!

Do you like funny? Here's a collection of funny graphic novels, poems, stories, letters, and more by funny women authors who used to be funny kids.

Wayside School Beneath the Cloud of Doom

by Louis Sachar

As fans of this wacky series are well aware, Wayside School is strange, but it gets even stranger when a gloomy cloud gathers over the building and no one knows why. (series)

Once Upon a Tim

by Stuart Gibbs

Tim and Belinda are peasants but have big dreams. When the princess is kidnapped by a Stinx (no, not a sphinx) and the prince puts out a call for gullible knights, Tim and Belinda (disguised as a boy) sign up for adventure.

Leonard \(My Life as a Cat\)

by Carlie Sorosiak

An alien visiting Earth mistakenly takes the form of a cat instead of a human. Olive saves Leonard from a tree and a friendship begins. The only trouble is, Leonard has no idea how to be a cat or how he'll get home to his planet.

Why I Was Late for School Again

by Dan Greenburg

Have you ever made up a story about why you were late for school? Well, Danny's tales are true — he really does get waylaid by zombies, pirates, and even a troll! Now he just has to convince his teacher!

The Magic Eraser

by Aaron Starmer

The combination to Locker 37 — which provides magical solutions to problems — is handed down to one lucky kid each year. When Carson opens the locker and grabs an eraser, he's in for a surprise! (series)

Marcus Makes a Movie

by Kevin Hart

Now that Marcus is taking a filmmaking class, his superhero comic about Toothpick can become an actual movie. However, he will have to depend on his nemesis, Sierra, and other friends for help. (series)

Weird Kid

by Greg Van Eekhout

Jake is a shape-shifting alien who fell to earth as a ball of green goo years ago and was found by his parents. As he struggles to keep his human form, he and a new friend notice that a much bigger problem (involving the same goo) threatens their neighborhood.

Stand Up, Yumi Chung!

by Jessica Kim

Yumi's parents expect her to study hard plus help in their Korean restaurant. But Yumi loves stand-up comedy, and when she's mistaken for a no-show student enrolled in a comedy camp, she jumps in — with unexpected results.
